"Mapping Madness"

Learn how to use Internet-based on-line mapping techniques including maps, tracking and detecting showing how to find anyone, anywhere, anyhow. Technology is the genealogist's friend, and Ron is a great teacher of imparting new ways to utilize important resources. Ron will review the basics of both Google and Microsoft's internet-based mapping facilities, maps.google.com, bing.com and maps.live.com. He will then introduce more advanced functionality of both. Finally, Ron will also discuss less traditional facilities provided my whitepages.com, Microsoft's MapCruncher, IBM's Many Eyes. Things are constantly changing on the Internet and Ron keeps up-to-the-minute with the changes and will discuss them during his presentation.

Speaker: Ron Arons a founding member of JGSCV is an accomplished and popular nationally known speaker having given presentations on Jewish genealogy and Jewish criminals at many IAJGS conferences, JGSs including JGSCV, book fairs, JCCs and more. He began researching his roots a dozen years ago. Ron appeared on the PBS television series The Jewish Americans in January, 2008. His book, The Jews of Sing Sing, was published in June, 2008. He will provide an entertaining, yet educational discussion. Ron earned a B.S. in Engineering from Princeton and an MBA from the University of Chicago.
