I was in New Jersey and New York attending my great-great nephew’s (that is not a typo) Bar Mitzvah—when JGSCV met on September 11th. Genealogy is all about family and this was an opportunity to see nieces, nephews, great nieces and nephews and great-great nieces and nephews! Tom and I had a wonderful time. We stayed another 5 days after the Bar Mitzvah and visited more family and friends and even worked on three sides of my family tree by adding and correcting the different branches.

Thanks to Warren Blatt for conducting the meeting on September 11th. Joel Weintraub’s program: Manifest Destiny-Names at Ellis Island was excellent. I attended Joel’s presentation at the IAJGS conference in August and knew it would be well received. See the summary of Joel’s program on page 6 by JGSCV board member, Andrea Massion. Joel’s handout is on the JGSCV website: www.jgscv.org under meetings/prior/11 September

Thank you to Werner Frank for facilitating the Schmoozing Corner.

As a California Corporation, JGSCV is required to have a Secretary for record keeping. Despite numerous requests to eligible members by JGSCV Nomination Committee chairman, Hal Bookbinder, no one has agreed to accept that position and run for the board. Fortunately, Helene Rosen our VP of Membership has been doing double duty since our past secretary retired from the board. If anyone is willing to take on this role please let me know. The Nominating Committee will make its recommendations to the membership in November,

Mission Statement:

JGSCV is a non-profit organization run by enthusiastic volunteers dedicated to the sharing of genealogical information, techniques and research tools with those interested in Jewish genealogy and family history. Members who include beginners and experienced genealogists share with each other.

per our by-laws.

Starting in 2001, US Congress declared October as Family History Month. Checkout the local archives, the National Archives and do some of your own research. A list of suggestions on celebrating genealogy is on page 10. The National Archives is holding its annual virtual genealogy fair on 26-27 October. To read more about this see page 8.

October is when JGSCV begins its annual membership drive. Forms are available on page 15 of the newsletter, on our website www.jgscv.org under “About JGSCV” and will be available at our meetings. For those who renew or join now through our 4 December meeting and attend the 4 December meeting, their names will be eligible to be drawn for wonderful genealogical gifts including subscriptions to Ancestry.com, Findmypast, MyHeritage, Fold3.com, Newspapers.com, FamilyTreeMaker, Legacy FamilyTree, Legacy Webinars, DNA testing from several companies and more! Each of these prizes is worth much more than the cost of an annual membership subscription.

I hope everyone has signed-up or renewed their Ralphs Community Program and made JGSCV your charity of choice. JGSCV relies on the contributions from Ralphs and Amazon.com to help our budget. Contributions from both of these organizations equal about 20-25 percent of our operating budget and it doesn’t cost you anything. Each September 1st Ralphs requires all those previously registered to re-register. We rely on both members and non-members to support JGSCV through these two programs. For more information on both programs see pages 5 and 17.

October is JGSCV’s 11th anniversary. We appreciate the support of Temple Adat Elohim, our meeting co-sponsor since our first meeting. For our 11th anniversary program we have the renowned Legal Genealogist, Judy Russell speaking on Through the Golden Door-Immigration after the Civil War. Judy will explain why America’s doors were open to all before the Civil War, with few restrictions. Afterwards, the laws began tightening with exclusions and quotas. Sometimes, even visas were required. How did the immigration laws affect your ancestors who immigrated after the Civil War? What challenges did they have to enter America’s “golden door”?

We are delighted that JGSLA, our sister society, is co-sponsoring this special lecture, along with Temple Adat Elohim. This could not have happened without Pat Thomas, JGSCV member and vice president of the Ventura County Genealogical Society. Pat suggested we partner with VCGS where Judy Russell is their one-day conference speaker the day before our meeting. Judy will be presenting Through the Golden Door only to JGSCV that weekend.

L’Shana Tova! On behalf of the JGSCV Board we wish all our members a very happy, healthy, prosperous and safe New Year! Looking forward to seeing you on October 16th.

Vive le Jewish History

Pierre Curin is a French historian and genealogist living in France. He writes on his website: “It is well known that the Alsatian Jewish community, mostly rural, was the biggest of whole France at the evolution in 1789 and already offered from the Sephardim living in cities of southern France.”

Food Genealogy?

There is a field of study to determine the origins of your food, and they call it Food Genealogy. Writer Paul Mabrey suggests that “In the context of food, a genealogy aims to account for the entire life-cycle of your food.”

He discusses why knowing the source and processes of your food can lead to improved nutrition and health. Even the seeds may be genetically modified.

Mabrey suggests reading Michael Pollan’s The Omnivores Dilemma. “Pollan’s book traces entire food genealogies for four different types of meals he prepared. “

Perhaps we need another category on our individual genealogy records for each ancestor: favorite foods? Allergies? Famous for what recipe! See more at: http://tinyurl.com/z655njf

Yizkor Candles at Yom Kippur

To many Jewish Genealogists, our work reflects the memory of our families and the gifts they left us. Like the memorial candle, our work also honors those who came before us.

So it’s fitting at Yom Kippur’s Yizkor service that at home, we light a Yahrzeit candle in memory of a loved one. This candle in glass honors the memory of those no longer with us in life. It is a lovely Jewish minhag (custom). The lighting of a 24-hour candle in the home is not required by halakhah. (Jewish law)

How appropriate for us, the family genealogists and keepers of history, to practice this custom. We light a candle on the Hebrew date of death for our parents, a spouse, siblings, and children, and this is when we also say Kaddish. In addition, there are four more holidays that present this opportunity. Yom Kippur is one of the four Jewish Holidays that mark Yizkor in the synagogue. The three pilgrimage festivals (Pesach, Shavuot, and Sukkot) also include Yizkor on the last day of each festival.

Generation Y Explained For Us Boomer Types

D. Josh Taylor, a co-host on Genealogy Roadshow (PBS) has presented at our IAJGS Conference. He is a talented, young genealogist and addresses the dilemma of how Societies might attract younger people to genealogy, specifically Gen Y.

Born between 1976 and 2001, Gen Y members are digital natives and have grown up with email, the Internet and social media. One might think that this would be a natural fit to do genealogy, as Mr. Taylor points out in his article on the Huffington Post and on his blog, but there are other factors at work with this techno generation.

The Topic: Through the Golden Door – Immigration After the Civil War

America’s doors were open to all before the Civil War with few restrictions. Later, the laws began tightening, with exclusions, quotas and more. How did the immigration laws affect your ancestors who immigrated after the Civil War? What challenges did they have to enter America’s “golden door”?

Speaker: Judy G. Russell, The Legal Genealogist. Judy G. Russell is a genealogist with a law degree. She writes, teaches and lectures on a wide variety of genealogical topics, ranging from using court records in family history to understanding DNA testing. A Colorado native with roots deep in the American south on her mother’s side and entirely in Germany on her father’s side, she is a member of the Association of Professional Genealogists, the National Genealogical Society and numerous state and regional genealogical societies. She has written for the National Genealogical Society Quarterly and National Genealogical Society Magazine, among other publications. She is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Board for Certification of Genealogists, from which she holds credentials as a Certified Genealogist® and Certified Genealogical Lecturer℠. October, 2016 VENTURING INTO OUR PAST
Joel Weintraub is funny. He’s also a great educator as he uses a variety of learning modalities to immerse us into the world of immigration to the United States. Passing around original documents, die-cuts and pictures related to Ellis Island and the other U.S. ports where our ancestors arrived, Joel laid out his agenda and began with a power point full of pictures, photos and details. Another JGS Conejo Valley meeting is underway, and news of this speaker has brought in many new-comers. Joel has made genealogy his passion since the death of his mother. “I asked her to do our family research, but she died. So it was up to me!” he stated with humor.

The allure of Ellis Island, Galveston and San Francisco has inspired and informed fiction, film and tourism: Lisa See’s books on her Chinese family entering at San Francisco, “Brooklyn,” the novel by Colm Toibin became an award-winning film with scenes of Irish immigration, and Mark Harelik’s play, “The Immigrant” about his Jewish family entering through Galveston, Texas come to mind. Mystery writer Nevada Barr sets an entire book, “Liberty Falling” on Ellis Island before its renovation was completed in 1990.

Joel Weintraub takes us there as well. He begins with a historical timeline of Ellis Island and continues by de-bunking the myth of name changes by port inspectors. “There is no evidence of name changes by immigration inspectors. Names could be changed during the naturalization process, not at Ellis Island.”

And lest you think you have heard his presentation already, take note: Joel treats his talks like a research project. He says he gathers as much information and data as he gives, and this contributes to the on-going evolution of the content.

After the history, Joel dived into genealogy research and how to get the records you need via several channels. Included was an explanation of the outer garment Immigrant Identification Tag worn while going through the Ellis Island process. The numbers identify the page and line on the ship’s manifest. Joel also used a case study to solve the matter of torn or destroyed pages of a manifest, caused by pressure when turning the pages. Where might we find copies of these pages before the damage was done? Joel pointed out that Ellis Island Database in many cases did not show the remaining data from damaged lines on the manifest or names from the Detention pages, but www.ancestry.com did. One might check at www.Familysearch.org for Book Index Films: 807 rolls of film that include immigration lists from 1906-1940’s. There’s also a collection of Work Project Soundex cards (WPA created jobs during the Depression) that were created before most of the damage was done, or that caused the damage while handling the manifests when filming. And finally, one might find immigration shipping data by reversing their direction and begin with a search of the Hamburg Shipping Records.

Joel showed an ad when Ellis Island was actually for sale back in the 1950’s. In 1965, President Lyndon Baines Johnson signed a bill that would never allow it to be on the market again: His official remarks on May 11, 1965 included the following:

> I am signing today a proclamation making Ellis Island a part of Liberty Island National Monument. In addition, I am asking Congress to enact legislation authorizing appropriations to make Ellis Island a handsome shrine in the broad harbor of the great port of New York.

Alas, Congress did not provide the monies for restorations nor did they approve the creation of a Job Corps Conservation Center on the New Jersey shore adjacent to Ellis Island that would do the job.

Restoration came 18 years later when President Reagan appointed Lee Iacocca to spearhead the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation. Those of us who paid $100.00 to have immigrant relatives’ names inscribed on the Wall of Honor in the 1980’s gave to that foundation that successfully opened Ellis Island to the public as a museum and historical experience.

Thanks to Joel Weintraub, all this history will not be forgotten, and no names will ever be changed.

Remembering Babi Yar

29 September marks the 75th anniversary of Babi Yar, one of the most infamous mass slaughters of World War II. A ravine in the Ukrainian capital of Kiev, Babi Yar is where the mass executions of 33,771 Jews took place over 48 hours between 29-30 September 1941. Men, women and children were ordered to strip before they were marched to the Babi Yar ravine and machine-gunned. Ultimately, over 100,000 people were murdered at Babi Yar during World War II, including thousands of Roma and Soviet political prisoners along with most of Ukraine’s Jewish community. The site has become emblematic of the “Holocaust by bullets” propagated throughout Eastern Europe, a method of mass murder that preceded the gas chambers of Auschwitz; an early example of how Nazi Germany learned how to commit murder on an unprecedented scale.

Safe Computing: Password Manager

Twelfth in a series

By Hal Bookbinder

Password managers store your login information for the sites that you visit. They then automatically log you in to the site once you bring up the login page. Better password managers will generate unique complex passwords for you, fill in forms and synch across your devices. Some even provide legacy features to pass on your access to another, so that if you become incapacitated or die, someone will be able to access your accounts.

I tried the free version of one of the very best password managers, Dashlane 4. It did a great job in automatically capturing IDs and passwords as I logged into websites and then replayed them when I went to those sites again. However, it was constantly pushing me to purchase the commercial version which was required for important functions like being able to view, update, delete or synchronize passwords across various devices. Eventually, I uninstalled it and focused on the free password managers.

An excellent free password manager is LastPass 4.0. It is intuitive, providing “cards” for each website you wish to access and displaying them in logical folders. You enter a description, ID and password into each card. I set up separate folders for financial sites, frequent flyer sites, genealogy sites, email sites, retail sites and social sites. I then simply clicked on the card for the site that I wished to open and LastPass logged me in.

LastPass presumes sites have a single ID and single password to log in. So sites that do not fit this profile may require you to manually enter a field. For example, the American Airlines’ Frequent Flyer site requires an ID, a last name and a password. LastPass entered the ID in both of the first two fields requiring me to overtype my last name - a minor annoyance.

Some sites do not permit you to go directly to a login page but rather have an icon on the home page which displays the login function. In these cases, clicking on the LastPass card icon brings up the home page. You must then click on the login icon and then have LastPass fill in the required information. Some of the commercial tools are more sophisticated and include unique profiles for hundreds of sites.

LastPass also generates complex passwords on request which you can use to better protect yourself. This is especially for important sites. Download it from http://www.lastpass.com. Please do your own investigation to select the right tool for you.

Commercial password managers cost $20 to $40 per year. For excellent comparisons of these tools, see “The Best Password Managers of 2016” (http://www.pcmag.com/article2/0,2817,2407168,00.asp) and “The Best Free Password Managers of 2016” (http://www.pcmag.com/article2/0,2817,2475964,00.asp).

A password manager is a convenient, secure way to maintain different passwords for the various sites that you visit. Of course you must create and remember a password for your password manager. Consider recording it in a secure location, like your safe deposit box - just in case.

This is the twelfth in a series of articles by JGSCV founding Board Member Hal Bookbinder. Hal is also a Past President of JGSLA and IAJGS. He is the 2010 recipient of the IAJGS Lifetime Achievement Award and his online skills are well documented.

October, 2016
Family History Month

In 2001 Congress passed a resolution introduced by Senator Orrin Hatch (R-UT) declaring October Family History Month. That resolution has been reintroduced annually since then. Senator Hatch wrote in the first resolution, "By searching for our roots, we come closer together as a human family."

With Family History Month, you should do something to celebrate genealogy!

- Have you Googled your family names? Put in the name of a person you are searching with a few more parameters like location, dates and spouses’ names. Don’t forget to try initials or nicknames and put in the last name first to see if you get different results.

- Google also has a book search and you put in names and places https://books.google.com/. Try Google Scholar for books by placing the name of your ancestral town or other location or person (author or someone who a book may have been written about) https://scholar.google.com/intl/en-US/scholar/help.html. Also try Google Newspapers (http://news.google.com/archivesearch) and Google International newspapers (http://news.google.com/newspapers).

- Have you searched military records for those in your family who served? A free site is the United States National Archives: http://aad.archives.gov/aad/. Click on the war you are searching. Paid/subscription sites include https://www.fold3.com/, where you can search for free and some collections, including the holocaust collection are free access.

- Interview a relative. Do you have relatives that you haven’t visited with in a long time and may know some family history? If they live nearby, make an appointment to meet with them. If they are not close by, call them. Remember to ask permission before recording and do not argue with their memory of a family situation—just write it down and attribute their version to them.

- Write down a memory of one or more of your parents, grandparents or siblings. It could be watching your grandmother cook/bake; a day in the park or spending it with your grandparents or parents on vacation, or playing with a sibling.

- Create a Family Cookbook! A cookbook with family heirloom recipes is a wonderful way to preserve memories shared with the family. Contact members of the family to ask them to share with you some of the family favorites. Include family stories about each shared recipe/meal in addition to the recipe.
Recording family health history known as medical genealogy is VERY important to the health of current and future generations. Thousands of diseases have genetic links and run in families. Creating a medical family tree includes illnesses and diseases with the relationships with your family members. The US Surgeon General suggests everyone create a medical history going back at least three generations.

- Update your family tree with the items you have been meaning to get to!
- Take a family memory trip - and bring the kids and grandkids! Visit the sites that are important to your family history. It’s a way to share memories and get the next generation into genealogy!
  - Family photographs are gems to be preserved. Get the old photos out of those shoe boxes in the rear of the closet and ask the older family members to help name the people in the marked photos. Scan them into your computer and store the originals in acid-free boxes or albums.
- Remember to back up your tree.
- Check local archives and libraries to see if they have special events to celebrate Family History Month.
- Use JGSCV’s library. The permanent JGSCV library is located at the Agoura Hills Library. Their address and hours are posted on our website. We have over 300 books and a number of journals from around the world!
  - Use the JGSCV website with more than 350 resources: www.jgscv.org

AND:

- If you haven’t joined or renewed JGSCV for 2017 do so!

Streicher Library Recoveries

The Jewish Community (IKG) Nuremberg owns the formerly known “Stürmer or Streicher Library”, today known as the Israeli Cultural Community-IKG, a collection of approximately 10,000 books stolen by the Nazis. IKG has a special interest in restoring the library to its rightful owners. Restitution is free of charge. So far, more than 700 writings were returned to approximately 170 persons or entities in ten different countries. It is very important to understand that the books are not only from Austria—in fact the research of the provenance references in the writings in 25 languages has resulted in over 2,200 former owners from localities in Europe and Overseas. A complete list of robbed victims is found at: http://tinyurl.com/hkcoka4

As genealogists we know the importance of provenance research which relies on family research. On the above-mentioned website is a letter from Magister Leibl Rosenberg the representative of the city of Nuremberg for the IKG who is asking for our collective assistance in identifying the original owners of the 10,000 books. I learned within hours of GenTeam placing the notice on their Facebook page they solved a case in Israel and one in Warsaw. Please contact Leibl.rosenberg@stadtnuernberg.de with any questions or research findings. If you are interested in learning some history about the collection see: https://www.nuernberg.de/imperia/md/stadtbibliothek/dokumente/ikg_infoblatt_en.pdf

Help support JGSCV by enrolling in Ralphs Community Contribution Program!

Join Ralphs’ Club (required to rejoin each September 1) and they will contribute a percentage of what you purchase to JGSCV! Registration is easy and helps your local Jewish genealogy society! Having a Ralphs card also helps you with discounts on purchases and their website saves you money too by downloading coupons. See the step-by-step directions below.

If you are already a registered participant, you will remain active until August 31, 2016 at which time you will have to reregister starting September 1, 2016. You can reregister for the new term at www.Ralphs.com starting September 1, 2016. Even if you registered as recently as July you will be required to register again starting September 1st!

Remember: You can renew or register for the first time at the JGSCV’s meetings—but you must first have a Ralph’s Card. You can easily obtain a card by going to a Ralphs near you at their customer service desk. For information contact Karen Lewy at Karen@jgscv.org.
